“We’ve been working with Ian and Arbuckle Industries to film our live events for the past five months, after working with less expensive freelancers. While we expected things to get better, Ian and his team have impressed us repeatedly with much higher standards and numerous improvements that we never anticipated. They are professional, super reliable and always looking ways to improve what we do together. At this point we consider them worth every penny and more.”

“Arbuckle Industries are an absolute pleasure to work with. From concept to content development to final edits, they work tirelessly to ensure the client’s satisfaction. Ian and David bring to the table a clear creative vision, but are extremely flexible and responsive to input, allowing for a highly collaborative environment.”

“Videos can speak volumes and having the right videos can make all the difference. We chose to work with Arbuckle Industries because of a recommendation but their work solidified the deal. Our shoot was focused on recording the experiences of cancer survivors, fighters and their supporters. Due to the sensitivity of the topic we needed a team that would go above and beyond to ensure the whole process would go as smooth as possible.”

“At AIANY we have been delighted with the consistent level of professionalism necessary because of the nature of the event - not only a conferring of honors but the principal sustaining fundraiser of our organization with some 1,200 attendees each year. The overall quality of the work is superlative, combining intellectual acuity with visual beauty to capture the attention and interest of dinner attendees with notoriously short attention spans.”

“CLR needed a strong solid vision from Arbuckle to express to our clients our passion for what we do. Arbuckle got what we do very quickly, gave 200% guiding us through the process, and produced an exceptionally creative solution for us. The final product has served us incredibly well.”

“I can't speak highly enough of Arbuckle's talent and professionalism. When we came to them with an extremely important, extremely rushed project, they exceeded our expectations at every opportunity. The final video blew us away, and the process to get there was made as smooth as possible by Ian and David. The entire experience was a delight, and we look forward to another chance to work with Arbuckle in the future.”

STUDIOS ARCHITECTURE

“When introducing our premium pianos to the wider marketplace, our most important ambassadors are the artists who play these instruments on concert stages around the world. David and Ian at Arbuckle Industries created a testimonial video for Yamaha that elegantly brings these voices to life and, using only the sparest elements, truly carries the musical voices of the instruments themselves. We've worked with a number of videographers, and Arbuckle's work stands head and shoulders above the rest. .”
